The 1.9 project is built for the game Shattered Horizon. That game has a rather unique engine. In this build of mine you'll get to play the game in stunning 360 as well as in the new meshfaces. Compared to project 1.8.3 you get a more detailed HUD, more options for the a2a system as well as much more features for HD textures, decals and particles. You can now customize the 3D meshheads, that all look pretty nice. Hope you enjoy it!! Here are some screenshots. Aya, Ceres and Thor are looking even better!!! For those who didn't know, this is an ExFAS build that is meant for the game Shattered Horizon for iD gaming. If you like the project please hit the donate button, or support it with purchasing DLCs. Donations in return (paid) DLCs should count in your donation. Support it by purchasing DLCs. Paid DLCs? If you don't know what DLCs are or why people should pay for them, here are some explanations. DLCs are free expansions to the base game. These DLCs offer extra content, such as new vehicles, new maps and new gamemodes (like Coop or FFA). If you run out of money, and you don't want to spend money, buying DLCs can be the best choice. You get more to do and more to explore. As you might know, most games that iD Game studios has made are tower defense games, and those are awesome, but iD Game developers makes games for every game-style from racing games, to action games, to adventure games, to tomorrows games, etc. When you think of a game called Shattered Horizon, you might think it's just some boring tower defense game (that you'll probably didn't like), but that would be not true. Shattered Horizon is a racing game that has some good gameplay elements, such as swerving, speed boosts and aerodynamics. With the exception of AI, the racing games that they make are pretty fun to play. The gameplay elements are nice, but the graphics are really good, and for a game that we'll playing with wooden blocks, the graphics are impressive. If you don't believe me, here are some screenshots. The graphics are the only reason
