Q: No ci-client-socket-connect.txt file exists in redux project folder I am using CI to build my react app but the server is sending me No ci-client-socket-connect.txt file exists in redux project folder. This file is not required by the build command. Do you want to create this file? I searched a lot but not able to find what is the exact file name and location to fix this. what should I do? this is my.yml file # Update this file to change the default build command. # update: This is how `react-scripts` sets it up automatically # - name: yarn run build # if: github.repository == 'reduxjs/react-crud' # run: yarn build # In this case we need `yarn` in our system path, but keep it hidden. # # For example: `export

PATH="$HOME/bin:$PATH" ` #
# # # # # For Windows, you can use the bash shell instead:
name: Build on: pull_request:
branches: - master - features/* push: branches: - master tags:
- v* release: types: [published,
    pushed] labels: - hotfix - release - maintenance - pre-release - test-only - docs - readme - push-upstream jobs:
    build: 0cc13bf012
